ENLIST IN THE SIGNAL CORPS

ELECTRICAL LABORATORY.

Where do You Want to Go?
What Life Appeals to You Most?

The Signal Corps Offers
You a Large Variety.

DO YOU PREFER THE CITY?

There are places for the right men in the Depot Companies at Department Headquarters at:

ENLISTED MEN'S BARRACKS.

NEW YORK CITY.
BOSTON.

CHICAGO.
SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX.
CHARLESTON, S. C.

WASHINGTON, D. C.
SEATTLE, WASH.

Or are you tired of the city and want the great outdoors?

The Signal Corps installs and operates communication systems that stretch for hundreds of miles along the historic Rio Grande River and west to the Pacific.

Do you dislike cold weather, snow, and sleet? The Signal Corps offers service in a land of perpetual summer: To PANAMA, where Signal Corps wires stretch from one end of the Great Canal to the other and link together the Island fortresses that guard its mouths; or across the Pacific to the PHILIPPINE ISLANDS; or to the HAWAIIAN ISLANDS, the garden spot of the world. See new lands, new customs, new people, and old lands, old customs, old people. Ask recruiting officer how to enlist for service in the Signal Corps in those places.

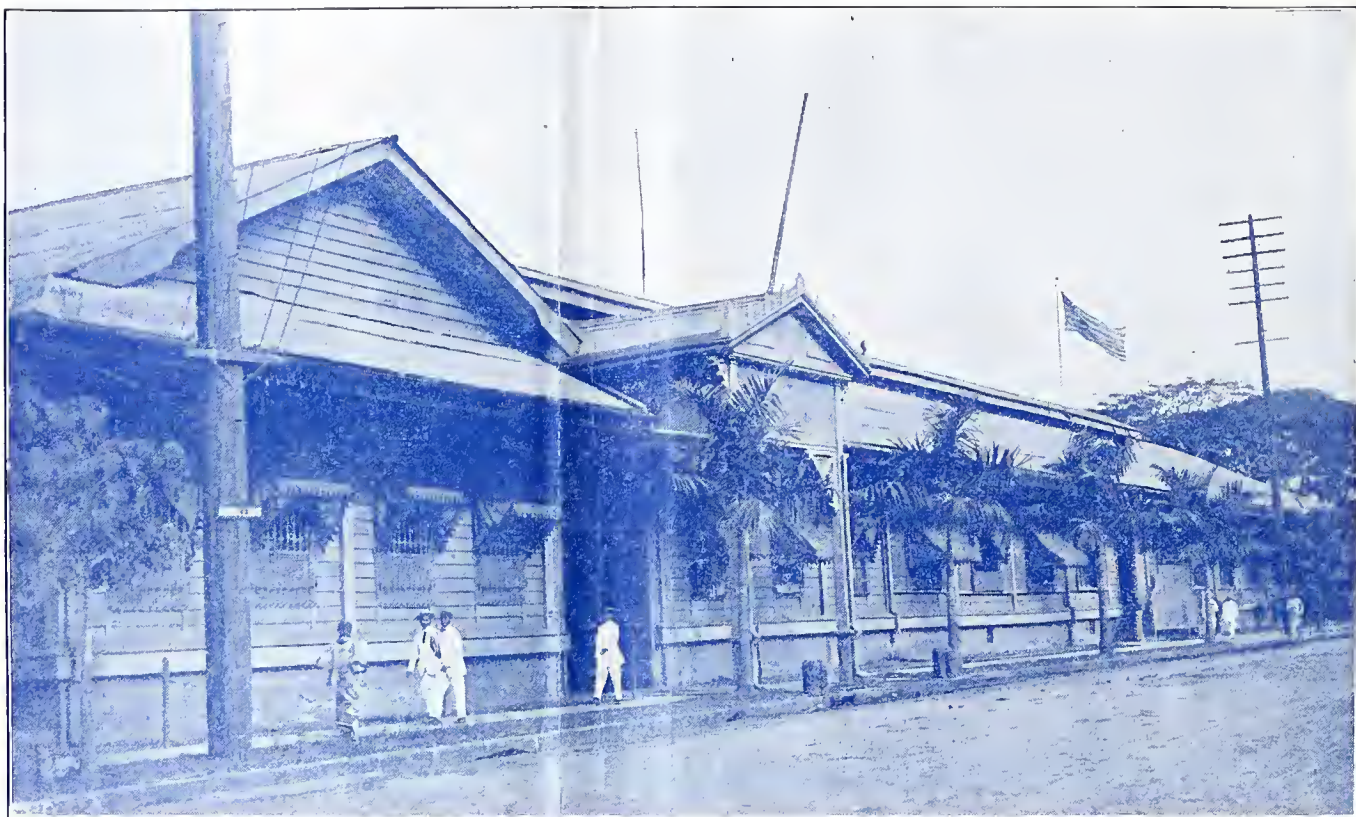

OR DO YOU PREFER THE GREAT NORTH?

U. S. TROOPS NEAR FORT SEWARD, ALASKA.

The Washington-Alaska Telegraph and Cable System, operated by the Signal Corps, stretches for thousands of miles from the United States to Alaska and across its wonderful mountains and streams abounding in fish and game; America's last frontier and one of the treasure vaults of the world.

And all the while Signal Corps men may be perfecting themselves in their trade or learning a new one. Do you wish to be a Wireless Expert, a Telegraph Operator, a Cable Operator, a Lineman, a Switchboard Installer, a Cable Splicer, a Telephone Expert, a Motor Mechanic, a Photographer, a Storage Battery Expert? There are opportunities to learn these under Signal Corps experts and the Government pays you and provides for you while you learn.

SIGNAL CORPS QUARTERS, MANILA, P. I.

SIGNAL CORPS SCHOOL, CAMP ALFRED VAIL.

At Camp Alfred Vail, Little Silver, New Jersey, there are schools for specially selected enlisted men of the Signal Corps where various technical subjects are taught, including telegraphy, wireless, telephone construction, telephone repair, telephone switchboards, and other subjects connected with Signal Corps work.

Men enlisted who are technically qualified are generally assigned to stations and duties where their services are needed, and it is contemplated sending men not qualified to the school at Camp Alfred Vail, New Jersey, or to Signal Corps organizations where technical subjects are also taught.

A SIGNAL CORPS PORTABLE RADIO STATION.

Men of the following qualifications are desired:

Cable telegraph and radio operators.

Inside and outside wiremen and telephone men who have had experience in the construction, operation, and maintenance of commercial telephone systems.

Telegraph and telephone wire chiefs. Cable splicers. Electricians. Machinists.

Meteorologists. Gasoline-engine men. Motor mechanics. Chauffeurs. Automobile and motor cycle repairmen. Clerks. Photographers. Men who have had experience and are familiar with the breeding and raising of homing pigeons.

AND HERE IS WHAT YOU ARE PAID.

The grades and monthly pay of the enlisted force of the Signal Corps are as follows:

	First enlistment.	Second enlistment.	If reenlisted within the three months.

The pay of enlisted men serving in Alaska, China, Philippine Islands, and Europe is increased 20 per cent and a further increase of 35 cents per day is allowed men of the Signal Corps employed in Alaska on the Alaskan cable system for periods not less than 10 days.

An enlisted man who qualifies, in an examination conducted under regulations promulgated by the Chief Signal Officer, as an expert military telegrapher, first-class military telegrapher, or military telegrapher, receives, in addition to his other pay and allowances, $5, $3, and $2 a month, respectively.

Owing to the technical and professional nature of the service in the Signal Corps, a large proportion of the enlisted men are noncommissioned officers, thus affording most excellent opportunity for promotion to responsible and well-paying grade.

When on detached service at a station where there are no troops, as many of the Signal Corps operators are, the soldier draws about $2.00 per day as commutation of rations and quarters.

SOME FORCEFUL FACTS ABOUT THE ARMY.

THINK IT OVER! It is what you have at the end of the month that counts, not what you get in the pay envelope!

Besides the special opportunities offered in the Signal Corps you know that you are provided with the "Seven Essentials" FREE, viz:

1. Wholesome, body-building food.
2. Clean, comfortable, and healthful sleeping quarters.
3. Clothing.
4. Medical attention.
5. Dentist work.
6. Cheapest life insurance in the world.
7. Educational and recreation opportunities.

What do you now spend for these things? In the Signal Corps your pay is clear profit. Have you now an equal amount left at the end of month after paying your expenses?

Any good man should qualify for higher noncommissioned grades which carry corresponding pay and authority.

TERM OF ENLISTMENT.

One-third of the enlistments in the Regular Army of the United States shall be for a period of one year, and the remaining two-thirds thereof shall be for the period of three years. For the present no restrictions on enlistments of either class are imposed upon recruiting officers, except that no man shall be enlisted for one year who has not had previous military service in the Regular Army or in the Army as constituted under the Act of Congress approved May 18, 1917, entitled "An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States."

The Act of Congress approved February 28, 1919, governing voluntary enlistments, provides further that no man enlisting under that Act shall be required to serve with the reserves and that after the expiration of one year those enlisting for the period of three years may be discharged in the discretion of the Secretary of War under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe after one year of service.

No men will be enlisted or reenlisted who, on account of dependents, will be entitled to family allowances under the provisions of the War Risk Insurance Act. This, however, does not apply to men now in the Army who were enlisted prior to April 2, 1917.

Enlistments will be made in the grade of private, and promotions to higher grades will follow as vacancies occur and the soldiers' qualifications, conduct, and service justify. Promotions are usually rapid in the case of men of high character who show proficiency in special phases of the work.

Every soldier is privileged to deposit his savings in sums of not less than $5, with any Army paymaster, and for the sums so deposited, for the period of six months or longer, interest will be paid at the rate of 4 per cent per annum.

Applicants for enlistment must be between the ages of 18 and 55 years. They must be unmarried, of good antecedents and habits, and free from bodily defects and diseases. They must be citizens of the United States or have made legal declaration of their intention to become citizens of the United States, and be able to speak, read, and write the English language. Before enlisting they are required to pass a physical examination to determine their fitness for service in the United States Army.

SQUAD ROOM.

RETIREMENT.

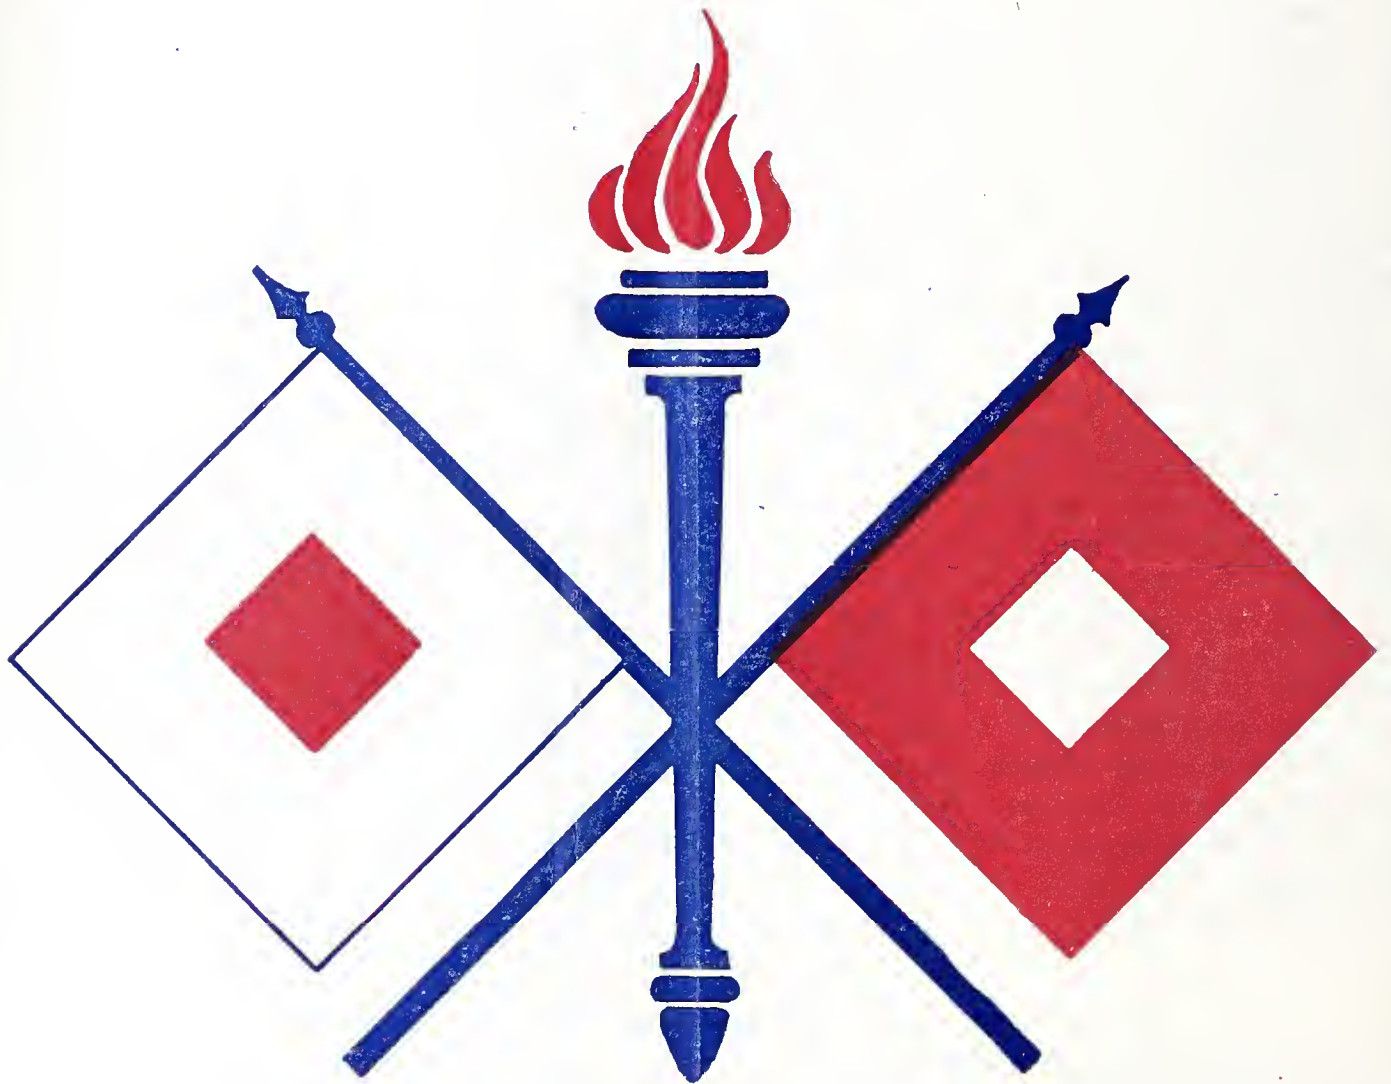

After 30 years' service, a soldier is entitled to be retired and receive monthly, during life, three-fourths of the monthly pay he was receiving at the date of retirement, and, in addition, $9.50 per month as an allowance for clothing and subsistence, and $6.25 per month in lieu of quarters, fuel, and light.

EXAMINATION FOR COMMISSION.

Unmarried soldiers under 30 years of age, citizens of the United States, physically sound and of good moral character before and after entering the Army, are eligible to compete for provisional appointment to the grade of second lieutenant after one year's service.
